

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Northern Virginia Orthopaedic Specialists' Dr. Kevin Peltier recognized with Subspecialty Certificate in Sports Medicine (CAQ) from the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery

Haymarket, Virginia – January 27, 2011 - Northern Virginia Orthopaedic Specialists (NVOS) is proud to announce that Kevin E. Peltier, M.D. an orthopaedic surgeon with fellowship training in sports medicine and shoulder and elbow surgery was awarded a Subspecialty Certificate in Sports Medicine by the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery. This certification required proof of a substantial case load of sports medicine patients as well as a written examination.

Dr. Peltier completed medical school at Georgetown University School of Medicine and an orthopaedic surgery residency at the University of Pittsburgh. After residency Dr. Peltier completed a fellowship in sports medicine and shoulder and elbow surgery at the University of Southern California (USC). While at USC, Dr. Peltier served as team physician for several nationally-known collegiate sports programs, including the football and women's soccer teams.

Dr. Kevin Peltier has also recently been recognized by WASHINGTONIAN Magazine and Northern Virginia Magazine as a top doctor in the Washington D.C. area. Dr. Peltier has practiced at Northern Virginia Orthopaedic Specialists since completing his fellowship in 2006 and enjoys an excellent reputation among both patients and fellow physicians in the area.

Northern Virginia Orthopaedic Specialists (NVOS) is an orthopaedic practice of physicians: W. Bartley Hosick, M.D., Christopher Highfill, M.D., Kevin Peltier, M.D., John J. Kim, M.D., and Keith Albertson, M.D.. NVOS has provided high quality orthopaedic care in northern Virginia since 1995 with offices in Manassas and Haymarket, Virginia. NVOS physicians hold admitting privileges at Prince William Hospital in Manassas, Virginia, Prince William Ambulatory Surgery Center in Manassas, Virginia and Inova Fair Oaks Hospital in Fairfax, Virginia.

Contact:

Allen Foster

Northern Virginia Orthopaedic Specialists

8644 Sudley Road, Suite 308

Manassas, Virginia 20110

www.NVOS.com

email@NVOS.com

703-369-9070

###